Baby Among the Provinces Is Now One of Wealthiest

By Pat McVean

If Premier E. C. Manning and his cabinet were peering through rose colored glasses they wouldn't see a brighter picture than the one before them as they enter 1950.

Government, holding a 51-6 majority in the house, won the fight easily.

By July, the government ran smack against the question of controlling the export of natural gas from the province.

A special four-day session was called. The house approved the cabinet's plan to license all gas export companies and to prohibit export of the fuel until Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board rules gas resources were more than adequate for Alberta's needs.

Before the year closed, several companies had applied for export permits, but hearings were shelved until early in 1950. Government officials kept mum about their plans for disposing of the province's rich gas resources.

The year 1949 also saw substantial increases in government revenue. Income taxes, real and personal property taxes, motor vehicle licenses and gas.

The government spent freely during the year-increasing old age pensions, military allowances and health grant, and spending more than $20,000,000 on public works and close to $10,000,000 on roads and highways.

School Patrols Are Praised

The work of student traffic patrols in protecting the lives of children was praised last night by

Set. J. Muir, of the RCMP Highway Patrol, at a banquet for boys and girls of rural school patrols.

Sponsored jointly by Sturgeon District Division and Alberta Motor Association, the banquet was held in the Masonic Temple as a token of appreciation of work done during the past year.

Speakers, Sgt. Muir and Magistrate H. L. Howe, K.C., impressed upon the guests the responsibility of their jobs and urged on the value in saving the police in reducing road accidents.

The 40 boys and girls present were representing schools of Edmonton, West Jasper Place, East Edmonton, Spruce Grove, Nanton, Hume Hill, Golden, Banff, and St. Albert, where they act as patrol in guiding automobiles through busy thoroughfares.

Route Change Is Discussed

The federal government's determination to leave the choice of a route for the Trans-Canada Highway to the provinces has resulted in such confusion that the only apparent way out of the difficulty is the appointment of a federal fact-finding board as Edmonton members of parliament have suggested.

The decisive choice in the voice of the western part of the route seems to be that of British Columbia.

Saskatchewan has indicated a willingness to string along with Alberta and B.C. in whatever they may decide.

Premier Manning's announcement, some weeks ago, in favor of a "neutral route" contained the implication that the government's stand was in deference to the views of B.C.

At the first flush, the B.C. government came out strongly for a southerly route that would drain all transcontinental tourist traffic into Vancouver. There was no doubt about the pressure behind this point of view.

But, since that time, the claims of the Yellowhead route have been strongly and convincingly developed.

It is said that British Columbia has been impressed by the arguments showing the importance of the Yellowhead route as a military highway and also by the fact that the cost of building and maintaining the Yellowhead route will be about a third of the cost of building and maintenance on any other route.

At any rate British Columbia later denied that it had made any decision in the matter and would make no decision until all the facts were known.

The situation now is utterly chaotic. Not one of the three western provinces appears to have definitely made up its mind.

Not one of these provinces should object to a decision being made by experts after a study of all the facts.

And that is all that anyone, in reason, can ask for—an impartial survey of engineering, military and tourist facts, and a decision in conformity with those facts.

The federal government will give impetus to the project and will make the project economically feasible only when it consents to the establishment of such a commission.

White Civilization and the Robesons

The wife of Paul Robeson has followed the example of her distinguished husband and delivered a blast at the United States and a parallel puff of praise for Soviet Russia.

Her complaint is that the entire North American continent is unfair to the Negro people and discriminates against them.

This unreasoning blast of criticism will not be approved by most colored people on this continent. They should not be associated with this utterly unreasonable and stupid manifestation of racial prejudice.

For the fact is that while many injustices are imposed upon Negroes in the United States and while the condition of slavery under which they were brought to this country was and is a disgrace to any nation that practices it, there can be no doubt that the American Negro, living under the worst of American conditions, is better off economically, socially and spiritually, than most American Negroes living under those African conditions from which all Negroes originally came.

The lot of the American Negro may not always be a happy one, but it represents an improvement over the lot of the average African Negro.

Moreover, enlightened public opinion everywhere on this continent is moving determinedly towards the elimination of discriminations as rapidly as social circumstances warrant it.

The only positively anti-Negro feeling in North America is held by a little group of bigots in the deep South whose stupid prejudice is fast fading.

So far as the Robesons themselves are concerned, the bitterness they manifest is the fruit, not of any burning sympathy with their race, but of their vanity.

When Paul Robeson was expelled from England by King George V in the early '30's for flagrant misbehavior.

And even this expulsion cannot be interpreted as racial discrimination because at the time His Majesty sent Paul Robeson packing, he also banished two hundred noted English socialites one of whom was a remote member of his own family.

Paul Robeson and his wife may rail at western civilization, but were it not for western civilization, Mr. Robeson would not be an eminent artist of high repute and profits, but a remote African village singer with songs behind a cowhide shield.

Mr. Robeson cannot have but both ways.

The Dubious Morals of the Great

It is all very well to say that the domestic entanglements of the Egyptian King are his own private affair and concern nobody out of Egypt.

To a limited extent that is true. Oriental morality is formulated with reference to accidental morality and to a point we must accept that fact.

But when the portly Farouk sets out to deliberately seduce an African princess bride of a subject, he commits an act that is reprehensible according to any code and by his very emulence he makes that act the more abominable.

Everybody is his "brother's keeper," but none more so than persons in positions of power and privilege whose example sets the tone for the behavior of the whole world.

The great waves of immorality that have engulfed human society from time time have usually had their source in the licentiousness of some exalted personage.

Thus, the notorious philandering of Louis XIV of France set a pattern of loose living for France but exerted a later influence on England when French customs were imitated in English society after the first world war.

Half the bawls sinister in English heraldry can be traced back to the poisonous influence of the little bandy-legged egomaniac who compared himself to the sun.

Monarchs, moguls and movie stars have a greater ethical obligation than any other persons because by their example they endeavor to imitate them.

King Farouk would do well to reconsider his intentions with regard to his proposed bride.

A dirty trick is a dirty trick whether it is performed in a palace or in a hotel.

ODDS AND ENDS

Stark Tragedy Strikes Household at Christmas

"There has been a heavy deluge of snow, storm Christmas, asking of my soul."

Did Amelia arrive?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has a cloud of affection grown between her and her new friends?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

Has Amelia arrived here to her new urban surroundings?

And then a letter was handed to me in the elegant clothing of Christmas.

With trembling fingers I tore it open and learned the stirring truth.

Here is the story and you can read it for yourself. Here is the thunderbolt that tumbled on my neck while I was at play.

"Dear Mr. Weir:

"This letter is going to blight your Christmas and it gives me great pain to write it.

"Amelia is dead."

"The stark simplicity of the announcement does not begin to express the tragic significance of it."

"This morning Amelia became a little playful—due no doubt, to too much beer. She jumped out of her room through the tall picture window on the west and out through a similar one on the south. It was too much for her."

"You will notice we renamed your girl Amelia. I hope you will feel she was all yours. Especially do I hope you feel that you were the cause of her death."

"With the bill for damages due to the window by Amelia."

"Askin, my best wishes for a merry Christmas."

Yours sincerely,

"Mr. Charles Robertson."

"P.S. My wife would hate to see this in the paper."

What Was Going On?

Now I realize that Charlie Robertson has a fine and gentle heart as anyone can see by the letter.

He is a very nice person, particularly the third paragraph.

But I think I am entitled to wonder just what the hell was going on when Charlie Robertson told me that his wife had died when he got my postcard, and invited her to leap through a couple of picture windows.

If the Robertson want to have some kind of a pre-Christmas brawl in their living room and jump in and out of windows, that's their business.

But when they drag my postcard into the picture, I think they are going too far.

Now who does Charlie Robertson think is a lawyer, boring around with my wife and daughter, and asking me to pay for a bill of beer? Does he think he's a lawyer?

Believe me, I don't know much about the law, but I know that there are, do not arise out of the people to whom they are entitled to pay for their services.

Any bill that arrives the week after Christmas I laugh the hell at.

Charlie Robertson is a very nice person, particularly the third paragraph.

Semester System

Being Tried Out

The Alberta government reports that in the new composite high school in Red Deer an experiment is being made in using the semester system.

Under this plan, a student studies two subjects for a three-month period and then writes the departmental examination. During the next semester, if the student has passed, he will study two other subjects. If he fails, he will repeat the subjects.

In some of the American schools, classes are conducted throughout the year with the 12 months being divided into three or four semesters.

At Red Deer it appears that the school is being closed for a semester. The other schools, but the plan succeeds, a fourth semester could be added to the school operated on a full-year basis.

Better Results Claimed For Plan

One advantage of the system is that a concentrated study becomes possible and there are some who insist that better results can be obtained.

The department points out that under this system, a farm boy who misses the first half of the year when he is needed on the farm and then he would come to school at the beginning of the second semester.

If this were done, three would be able to complete the year at the start of the class. The only difference would be that instead of completing the year at the end of the year, they would complete it at the start of the year.

That has even more possibilities. A student who would not need to attend school for a year, he could miss a semester and then return the following year to complete his education.

In our ordinary schools, a student lacking two subjects must attend for a whole year. Under the semester system, he could attend for three months, complete his work, and then return to school to complete his work. That would permit him to devote the rest of the year to other things.

It would seem that the semester system could be extended to shop courses, which are becoming increasingly important. A student who would not need to attend school for a year, he could miss a semester and then return the following year to complete his education.

The plan is still in the experimental stage, one which is worth serious study and attention.

A vast improvement method of handling the Alberta High school system could be made to school boards and students and parents and it could provide training when it was used.

Peace Machinery

All Ready To Use

We live in times of great perplexity. But maybe we overestimate our troubles. Maybe the ideas which lived a hundred years ago, or ten thousand years ago, had troubles of their own which would make ours seem unbearable.

Anyways, if you get too downhearted around Christmas time, when we sing of "peace on earth," spend holidays preparing for new war, play this game: Take any standard reference book which gives the dates of the big events of this century.

Mark down the years which are most important. You will be astonished to see that never before in the history of mankind have there been such gigantic strides towards preparing for war as there have been in the last few years.

The physical "makin'" are here now. What's left is the change of heart, and mind.

Granted we recently reached an altitude low in our collective human behaviour. In his savage state man might have been forgiven for jeering at his enemies. He knew no better. But he was left to twentieth century war.

The difference was that whereas Germany, Italy or Japan tried to go there with "Private Property, Keep Out" signs, we were left to twentieth century war.

Human Liberty

Yet one result of the two world wars was a liberation of human beings from the bondage of things. It was the history of the human race.

Take even the British Empire. Before the recent war only one fifth of our own king's subjects had self-government. But now the reverse. Only one fifth have no self-government. And India, China, and the rest of the world are now free.

It is a great thing that the Chinese have a single government. It is a great thing that the Chinese have a single government. It is a great thing that the Chinese have a single government.

But let us not jump the gun. We have not yet said the freedom of man, able to enforce world peace.

The new federation will need all the help it can get from the old workers of the world.

New Community Arena Opens at Hythe, Jan. 4

HYTHE, Dec. 29.—Opening of new arena at Hythe, Wednesday, January 4, will mark the culmination of a community effort which got under way during the spring of 1947.

At that time some of the founders of the arena began to be followed shortly after by building of the first arena. Since then $14,000 in actual cash has been expended, but almost all the labor which has gone into the building has been volunteered. Although the arena is not yet open, it stands in the name of Hythe Athletic Association, the entire community co-operated in the project and Hythe citizens consider they have a 500,000 arena.

50 Per Cent Vaccinate

MANNVILLE, Dec. 29.—Approximately 50 per cent of the calves in Municipal district of Mannville have been vaccinated for Bang's disease as a result of a campaign organized by the Agricultural Service Board here.

Chas. Gamble, field supervisor, reports that he is very well satisfied with the way ratepayers have co-operated in having their calves vaccinated against this dread disease.

However, he says that there are still many ratepayers who do not seem to realize how costly this disease can be to them, not only by losing a large percentage of their calf crop, but by endangering the health of their families. Vaccination fever can be contracted by using milk from a diseased cow. Mr. Gamble is hopeful the campaign will see a larger percentage take advantage of this service next year.

ON SPORT

Happy Birthday, Bob Solinger

Let's spin the sports sphere: Bob Solinger, one of few players able to bring the customer's taste to the face of the Gardens (see Arena) since the days of "Peerless Joe" Simpson, celebrated his 24th birthday a few hours back. The Tyler strongboy of the 1946-47 season is having a hot-cold time of it with Pittsburgh of the American Hockey league. . . . Add pet-peeve dept.: those persons who reward junior hockey players with a new hat for counting three goals in a single game. What's the point, particularly as no more than one goal in 10 these times is worthy of mention even? Besides those same kids usually can't get the sombrero on for thinking of the exploit that prompted the something-for-nothing manoeuvre in the first place. . . . Speaking of hats and oversize noggings, try this one for size: Eddie Shore supposedly has offered Vancouver Canucks' owner Garry Hall 10-thousand fish (that's what I said, boy) for defenceman Larry Reardon, last year with Saskatoon Quakers. As a Quaker, the youngest of the Reardon brothers showed traces of the well-known family fire—little else.

Furthermore, if L. Reardon is a $10,000-pick package, who does that make Colin Kilburn, Doug Anderson, Ab McLaughlin, Harvey (Fug) Young, Cy Thomas and more WCHL standouts one could rattle off?

She Pulled No Punches

Re that recent match race in which gal-rider Wanda Davis threw up a lot of Agua Caliente dust in the face of one Johnny Longden: what Allocated Press dispatches to this part of the continent neglected to mention was that Mrs. Davis, a crack quarter-horse saddlewoman, turned the affair into a pint-sized rodeo during the run through the stretch. Way eye-witness accounts read (A.V. may not have been there, but) once his opponent had finished carrying him to the outside rail, "I'll never be a gentleman again in a match race—any kind of match race." Longden vowed afterwards that his mountain air must be agreeing with Denny Smith, south side product now with Ken McAuley's last-place (they couldn't be anything else, considering the talent) Kimberley Dynamiters in the Western International Handicap league. The young fellow keeps hot on the trail of the top point-getters in the four-team circuit. . . . Move over there Tommy Burlington, one-eyed forward of Riley Mullen's St. John's, and Saskatoon puck stud, another Tommy! This one Tommy Thompson, ex-passer of Philadelphia Eagles, U.S. National Professional Football league champions—also might be twice as handy had he a second good eye.

As to two-luck getters, see our case, Peach Cobbler now is stalled at Santa Anita. The hay-burner put in at $11 dollars and some change while finishing in the show stall at Tanforn the other day.

Things Are Tougher for Ray Barry

The points have come a little harder for Ray Barry lately, and the former Maple Leaf and Cap junior forward has slipped to 10th in the Quebec league's own version of the cheap-assist derby. He's with league leading Sherbrooke Saints. . . . Add it's almost-definite-noon-dept.: Fight writers close to Joe Louis refer to him as the SEMI-retired ex-heavyweight champion. . . . Catch? . . . Thoroughbred racing's Billie, shortly will publish a collection of poems written by Capt. Stanley Harrison, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., horseman. Most of the Harrison efforts are pretty good ones, too, as anyone who ever has read table of them can attest. . . . Despite the fact that he was anything but a ball of fire as an active lineman with Eskimos during the 1949 Western Conference Football campaign, San Francisco's Bill Radovich would like to return here next time around as line coach. In this connection, the 300-pound heavy was a big hit as head-coach of the Westling high school squad, the kids being slightly nuts about the Radovich way of going, to say nothing of his undoubted grid know-how.

Incidentally 'Chuck' Feneboch, another of the American imports, has a stock answer as to whether he has, or has not, asked for his release from Eskimos. Says the former U.S. pro: "Well, I want a play football SOMEWHERE."

Hawks Crown Kings In Wild Donnybrook

WINNIPEG, Dec. 20.—(CP)—With 34 players visiting the penalty box, 11 during the final two minutes of play, Winnipeg Black Hawks gained second place in the Manitoba junior hockey league last night by trouncing the league-leading Brandon Wheat Kings 6-3 before 2,600 fans.

In addition to 25 minor penalties, officials by Deady and Galt Holloway awarded one misconduct and eight majors including one to Winnipeg defender Laurie Brethauer in what was probably the roughest game in Manitoba amateur hockey annals.

Canadian Amateur Hockey Association regulations stipulate that throughout a league game each team must have at least four players, including a goalie, on the ice. Where a penalty is issued to a club already short-handed two men, the penalized player serves a "five-minute" penalty—that is he does not serve his time until a substitute has completed his penalty.

The only goal scored during the rugged last two minutes was a solo effort by Winnipeg's Vic Love at 21:22.

The spark of the flare-up near the game's end was a four-way free-fall involving Gord Level and Jim Negladuk of Hawks and Brian Rochie and Walt Fawcett, each drawing a major. Five-minute penalties were issued seconds later to Jim McDougall of Kings and Jim Nickel, also for fighting.

The extent joined five Brandon players already serving two min-

OAKLEY DYER

ALL-ROUND PERFORMER

STUDENT AND ATHLETE

Scona's Dyer All-Round Guy

By Ernie Fedoruk

A guy with blond hair and deft feet has made his way from the gridiron to the sports page.

He is 18-year-old Oakley Dyer, Scona's all-star centre in the high school senior football league and a Bronze Medalist winner for swimming achievements.

Being one of the most popular students at Strathcona, and probably the quietest, his activities are many.

He has been a member of the YMCA for several years and is an intermediate diver, conducting a swimming class every week. A better-than-average swimmer, he was the waterfront director for the Y's summer camp at Wabamun.

His swimming ability has earned him the Bronze Medal given to swimmers who pass tests in life-saving. Royal Life Saving Society presents the Medal through the co-operation of the Red Cross.

The quiet spoken Dyer played football with the Scona champions and was picked as all-star centre on the Bulletin All-Star team. He is an excellent basketball player but a knee injury has kept him from turning out for the Scona team this year.

WILLIE PEP WILL DEFEND CROWN JAN. 16

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Featherweight champion Willie Pep will defend his title against Charley Riley of St. Louis here Jan. 16, promoter Hans Bernstein announced yesterday.

Riley signed for the fight and Pep wired acceptance through his manager, Lou Viscusi, after the Missouri Athletic Commission gave official approval for the match.

Pep has been featherweight champion since Nov. 20, 1942, seconds for 15 months last year when he lost it to Sandy Saddler. He lost it back by outboxing Saddler in New York early this year.

AT TENNIS

Kramer Doubts Gonzales Improving

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Like many another teacher for Jack Kramer sometimes doubts that his star pupil is learning anything.

The big professional tennis star is Pancho Gonzales, who placed his way to the top of the American amateurs with a brilliant driving service but only a casual acquaintance with the other fundamentals.

For 120,000 of the 21-year-old Mexican-American was persuaded to turn pro and was matched against Kramer, the unquestioned ruler of the game.

"Sometimes I think he's learning something, and other times I doubt it," said Kramer during a three-night stand in London.

"He's good, but I've won every set I've played good except for one in Chicago."

The match record at the moment reads 26 for Kramer, six for Gonzales since the four started in Paris in late October.

Last night Kramer doubled Gonzales, 7-5, 7-5, for a 24th over his 21-year-old rival in the London series. In the other match Pancho Segura made it three in a row over Frank Parker here, 6-3, 6-4. During the three sessions at Wembley Stadium, the great drew 2,000 fans a day while the two days in Paris over the New Year holidays. Then the four will return to the United States for another 72 engagements.

Ernest A. Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont., issued a provocative challenge yesterday in Detroit on behalf of Canada for the Harmsworth Trophy race of 1950. Wilson said he would enter his boat, Miss Canada IV, provided the race is held on or after Aug. 1. He said he wants to make sure Miss Canada will be ready. Officers of the Yachmen's Association of America, which received the challenge, said it will be taken under advisement.

Injury-Riddled Rangers Climbing NHL Ladder

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(CP)—New York's injury-weakened Rangers did it the hard way last night when they came from behind with the four-goal rally in the last five minutes of play to defeat Chicago Black Hawks 5-2 here.

Victory halted the Blueshirts into second place in the National Hockey league with Montreal. Canadiens who fought to a 1-1 draw with Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto, both New York and Montreal now have 33 points apiece. Now Canada have played more games than the Rangers.

Boston Bruins held onto their third-place tie with Toronto as they came from behind at Detroit to battle to a 2-2 deadlock with the Maple Leafs. The one point earned by both Leafs and Bruins leaves them knotted with 30 points each, Chicago next in the cellar with 26 points.

LARGEST CROWD

At New York the largest crowd of the season—13,729—watched the Rangers, without the services of the injured Frankie Brinkley and Allan Stanley, take the sheet end of a 2-0 count at the end of the first period.

Guy Stewart and Bill Gadsby scored for Chicago in the first frame while Dore Fisher knocked a New York marker in the second. Then at 13:49 of the first period Fisher, with his second goal, started the rally, driving an axle shot past Frankie Brinkley. Don Raleigh and an Edgar Laprade with two goals, finished the scoring.

Leafs, too, came from behind to earn their 1-4 deadlock with the Canadiens.

Bill Durnan seemed in the lead after his sixth attempt of the season after Billy Reay took Gerry Plamondon's pass in the middle frame to drive the puck past Frank Brinkley. In the Toronto goal, however, Harry Watson evaded the count in the third period with a 10-foot shot after taking a pass from centre Max Bentley.

LEAFS DISAPPOINT

A large midweek crowd of 11,350 fans, expecting a typical hard-battling Toronto-Montreal game, left Maple Leaf Gardens disappointed. The mediocre game gave them little to cheer about. Only one penalty was handed out in Leafs' Bill Barlow for roughing.

Bruins almost overcame their Detroit jinx in battling to a 2-2 draw with the Wings. Boston had been beaten six straight times yesterday by the powerful Detroit crew, who, despite the tie, stayed 11 points in front of the pack.

Detroit climbed into a two-goal first-period lead on goals by Sid Abel and Jimmy Peters. Bruins came back with a single goal in the middle frame by Woody Dumart and then tied the score on a goal by Phil Mather.

Goalie Harry Lumley of Detroit climbed from a sick bed to take his

CIVIC HEADS WINE AND DINE MERCURYS

Edmonton civic officials held a luncheon in honor of Waterloo Mercury's yesterday as well as officials from Edmonton Exhibition Association.

Jim Christiansen, sponsor of the Mercurys, had forewarned to his squad and instructed them about being good ambassadors while touring Europe.

Approximately 50 people attended the dinner with Mayor Sid Parsons acting as chairman. Many of the city's aldermen were present as were officials from Edmonton Exhibition Association.

Manager Jack Adams, however, had played it safe and had on hand Terry Sawchuk, called up from the Wings' Indianapolis farm, for possible use.

Oats, Barley

Strengthened By Exports

WINNIPEG, Dec. 29.—(CP)—Oats and barley prices generally advanced a much stronger tone in the local market on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Commercial buyers from shippers and export houses resulted in good advances in these grains, and offerings decreased gradually.

Barley moved irregularly during the moderately active session, with early selling attributed to American accounts, and the remainder of the day was characterized by good local buying. Prices moved up about previous closing levels.

In the export business, 20,000 bushels of Canadian wheat went to the United Kingdom under terms of the Anglo-Canadian agreement, and 120,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported shipped to Belgium. There were indications also of recent shipments of Canadian barley to a European nation.

Unmilled prices of class two wheat closed up one cent to $2.15. Oats, Dec. 1½ higher at 70½; May, 1½ higher at 70½; July, 1½ higher at 70½.

Flax, Dec. unchanged at 379½; May, 1½ higher at 379½; July, 1½ higher at 379½.

Prices of class two wheat for export advanced yesterday's quotations. Best seller for the day was Hanna Petroleum with 15,000 barrels at $2.15, advance of one-half cent on the day. Freehold sold 15,000 barrels with prices unchanged from yesterday's close.

CHANGING ECONOMY
The present is a period of change in the economy. We must not assume that the old trade pattern will return. But the problems are not as serious as they seem. A new era of expansion and development is ahead of us.

New Pattern for Trade
Needed, Say Exporters
By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor
Two men close to Canada's export trade today took a look at 1950 and saw continuing problems, but also possible ways out. The men, both exporters in their own businesses, are Donald Stewart of Montreal, immediate past president of the Canadian Export Association, and James A. Roberts, of Hamilton, Ont., current president who took office in October.

They are inclined to view our present economic situation with some optimism, but believe that the situation has been developed over a period of many years, and that it is not as simple as it seems.

"The present is a period of change in the economy. We must not assume that the old trade pattern will return. But the problems are not as serious as they seem. A new era of expansion and development is ahead of us."

"Domestic business was good in 1949 and should hold up satisfactorily through 1950. The bulk of primary products exported in 1949 made the export picture look much brighter than it actually was. We counted along, shipping against contracts made before 1949."

"Meanwhile the manufacturing export of foodstuffs found itself shut off from markets all over the world. Only his great resourcefulness in exploring and developing new markets kept him in the picture at all."

"Because of the non-renewal of English contracts the prospect of exporting products during 1950 is not as bright as it was in 1949. As for the manufacturing exporters and the exploring and developing new markets kept him in the picture at all."

Normal State Is Forecast

In U.S. Metals Picture

By JACK R. RYAN
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The non-ferrous metals industry in the United States weathered a costly slump in 1949 and looks to the new year for a return to normal peacetime stability.

The post-war business adjustment which has been a major factor in the industry's decline since 1945 is expected to be completed by the end of the year. But when the break came last year it came hard and fast. Buyers who had been scrambling for copper, lead, zinc and aluminum for months found their way into the business downturn which began in the industry in February. They stopped buying metals and began instead to work down their inventories.

Metals plunged. Copper, which had been at a peak in mid-1948 to 16 cents in June, fell to 12 cents in March. Zinc, which had been at a peak in mid-1948 to 16 cents in June, fell to 12 cents in March. Lead, which had been at a peak in mid-1948 to 16 cents in June, fell to 12 cents in March.

High-grade metals, such as copper, lead, zinc and aluminum, are expected to be in short supply in the new year. The industry is expected to be in a normal state by the end of the year.

Government stockpiles, which have been a major factor in the industry's decline since 1945, are expected to be completed by the end of the year. But when the break came last year it came hard and fast.

By Don Flach
General Petroleum and Superior Oil Ltd., who have teamed to drill in the Leduc field, have obtained oil showings in No. 2 well, a quarter-mile north of their No. 1 well now on production. Both wells are on a quarter-section farm owned by Imperial Oil.

Well found the top of the D2 at 5,146 feet and a driftnet test was run in the interval from 5,146 to 5,198 feet getting a gas blow of nearly 500 cubic feet daily and an oil rate 50 feet in the pipe along with 40 feet of drilling mud.

Well was subsequently taken to the 5,207 feet level and another test taken which recovered 60 feet of oil-filled mud. Well is now being completed and another test will be made tomorrow morning.

Imperial is also abandoning its wildcat venture near Jeffrey, about 40 miles north of Edmonton, on a 160-acre lease. Well was taken down to 4,427 feet without finding a satisfactory showing. Many Jews Spared By Trick on Nazis

PARIS, Dec. 19.—(Reuters)—A wartime bluff which led the Germans to release or spare the Jews of more than 200,000 was explained here in an announcement that the man behind it had retired. Central figure was Haly Mayer, 67-year-old Swiss-Jewish business man.

The American Joint Distribution Committee said that in 1944, when Germany's military position was desperate, the Nazis tried to ransom Jews in their concentration camps against money, vehicles and food.

The United States government and the AJDC refused to consider those moves but, the announcement said, Mayer persuaded the AJDC to lodge $5,000,000 in his name in a restricted account.

With this evidence on huge funds in his possession, Mayer met negotiators in a secret box on a bridge between Switzerland and Austria.

He spoke of his funds and "technical difficulties" and persuaded the Nazis to stop deportations of Jews to death camps. He then made a proposal of his own—that if the Germans stopped exterminations, he would arrange for relief supplies to be sent through the International Red Cross to keep Jews in Germany alive.

His bluff went on through the summer and autumn of 1944 and the spring of 1945. On the strength of Mayer's supposed wealth, the Gestapo was persuaded to send 1,673 Hungarians from Belsen concentration camp to Switzerland.

Mayer told the Germans such numbers were not enough to make a profit.

The Gestapo then successively freed 3,000 Jewish children in Budapest, allowed food and clothing to be given to 7,000 Jews in slave-

Atom Control 'Some Day'

More Immigrants From U.K. Sought

Subsidy Plan Being Considered Tentatively by Ottawa Cabinet

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Canada is seeking ways and means of boosting the dwindling number of immigrants coming to this country from the United Kingdom.

But a high government source said that no concrete decisions have been taken, although "a number of proposals have been and are under consideration."

Reliable sources say the government has given some consideration to instituting some type of "subsidy" to encourage U.K. immigration, which has declined from 45,000 last year to what is expected to be no more than 25,000 in 1946.

One form of financial assistance that the government is understood to be considering is a loan to U.K. immigrants to cover the total amount of money they can withdraw from that country in a four-

Business Urged To Expand Effort

MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Robert A. Bryce, says his up to private business to pull Canada away from possible economic doldrums. He said in his year-end message to Chamber members he saw little possibility of an early depression. But he emphasized that "we must be content just with holding our own."

"Our aim should be rather to continue to raise Canadian production and living standards," he said.
